Foreword

"God bless America, land that I love." Now more than at any other time we realize how much we love this wonderful America of ours. As we look at her beautiful fields, wind-swept plains, and her rushing mountain streams, we know we can never let her go. She is a part of every one of us. To us she represents all the ideals that we hold dear.

We are sometimes short-sighted and look only at the things which are near to us. And that, for us here in Hemet Valley, would almost be enough. For we are fortunate enough to live in one of the most plentiful and beautiful spots in America.

But as time moves on, so must we. We must be willing and eager to pass through the threshold which reveals to us the scope of America.

We will all leave behind us many memories and we, of the 1951 Tahquitz staff, have tried to bring them together for you, so that in days to come you will never forget the many happy hours you have spent at Hemet Union High School.

Hemet Senior High School.

I Love

To Miss Elizabeth McKelvey, loved by all who have known her, we of the annual staff wish to dedicate this 1951 Tahquitz. Our recognition goes to Miss McKelvey not only because of her beloved personality and length of service, but for the great variety of subjects she has taught and the many activities she has supervised.

Transferring from Knox College at Galesburg, Illinois, Miss McKelvey received her Bachelor of Arts from Occidental College, Los Angeles, where she won the honor of membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honor society. Her teaching career began at Palo Verde, near Blythe, where she was an instructor for four years. Another year was spent at Fillmore previous to her coming to Hemet high school.

As a newcomer to Hemet in 1924, Miss McKelvey soon made a place for herself in a variety of school activities. Her ready smile and encouraging bit of advice have been in demand for many years now. We find that she has at one time or another been advisor for practically every organization in school. Girls' League, Student Council, girls' athletics, California Scholarship Federation, have all received her help, and she has also served as annual advisor, cafeteria manager, and sponsor for every class in school, from sophomore on through senior! Many of the junior classes of the past would have met disaster in their planning and preparation for the Junior-Senior banquet, had it not been for Miss McKelvey; and the C.S.F. students of Hemet high school have none other than Miss McKelvey to thank for their enjoyable week-end trips to such places as Boulder Dam and Santa Barbara.

Nor should Miss McKelvey's teaching ability go without notice, for it has been demonstrated in nearly every subject. This versatile instructor has taught everything from cooking to biology, including chemistry, Latin, dramatics, mathematics, physical education, and even a seventh grade home-room!

Yes, Miss McKelvey has served this school long and well. She has become a tradition at Hemet high, and Hemet High has in return become a part of her. To the students of the past she is a cherished memory of a friend and teacher. To us of the present, she is the teacher without whom mathematics would be but a maze of figures and without whose presence H.U.H.S. would not be quite the same.

No matter what the job, you do your share, Miss McKelvey. We can only do ours by saying "Thank you."

BOB TOWLE

In Memory of

Fatally injured when his automobile collided with an army-type truck two days before, Robert Franklin Towle passed away in the Hemet Community Hospital on Saturday morning, June 18, 1950.

Bob was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Towle of West Seventh Street. He is survived by three brothers, John, Hugh, and James S. Towle III, and by three sisters, Mary and Jane Towle, and Mrs. Diane Early.

At the time of his death, Bob, a sophomore, was an enthusiastic member of the Key club and treasurer of the group. He enjoyed square dancing and horse-back riding and rated aviation high among his interests.

Though he was quiet and unassuming, Bob left a host of friends who will long remember his happy smile and friendly ways.

Administration

New to Hemet this year was Leonard F. Ebrite, high school principal, who gained the respect and admiration of high school students almost immediately. Mr. Ebrite was never too busy to exchange a smile and a few words with a student or to help anyone with his individual problem. During the second semester he took over the leadership of the student council.

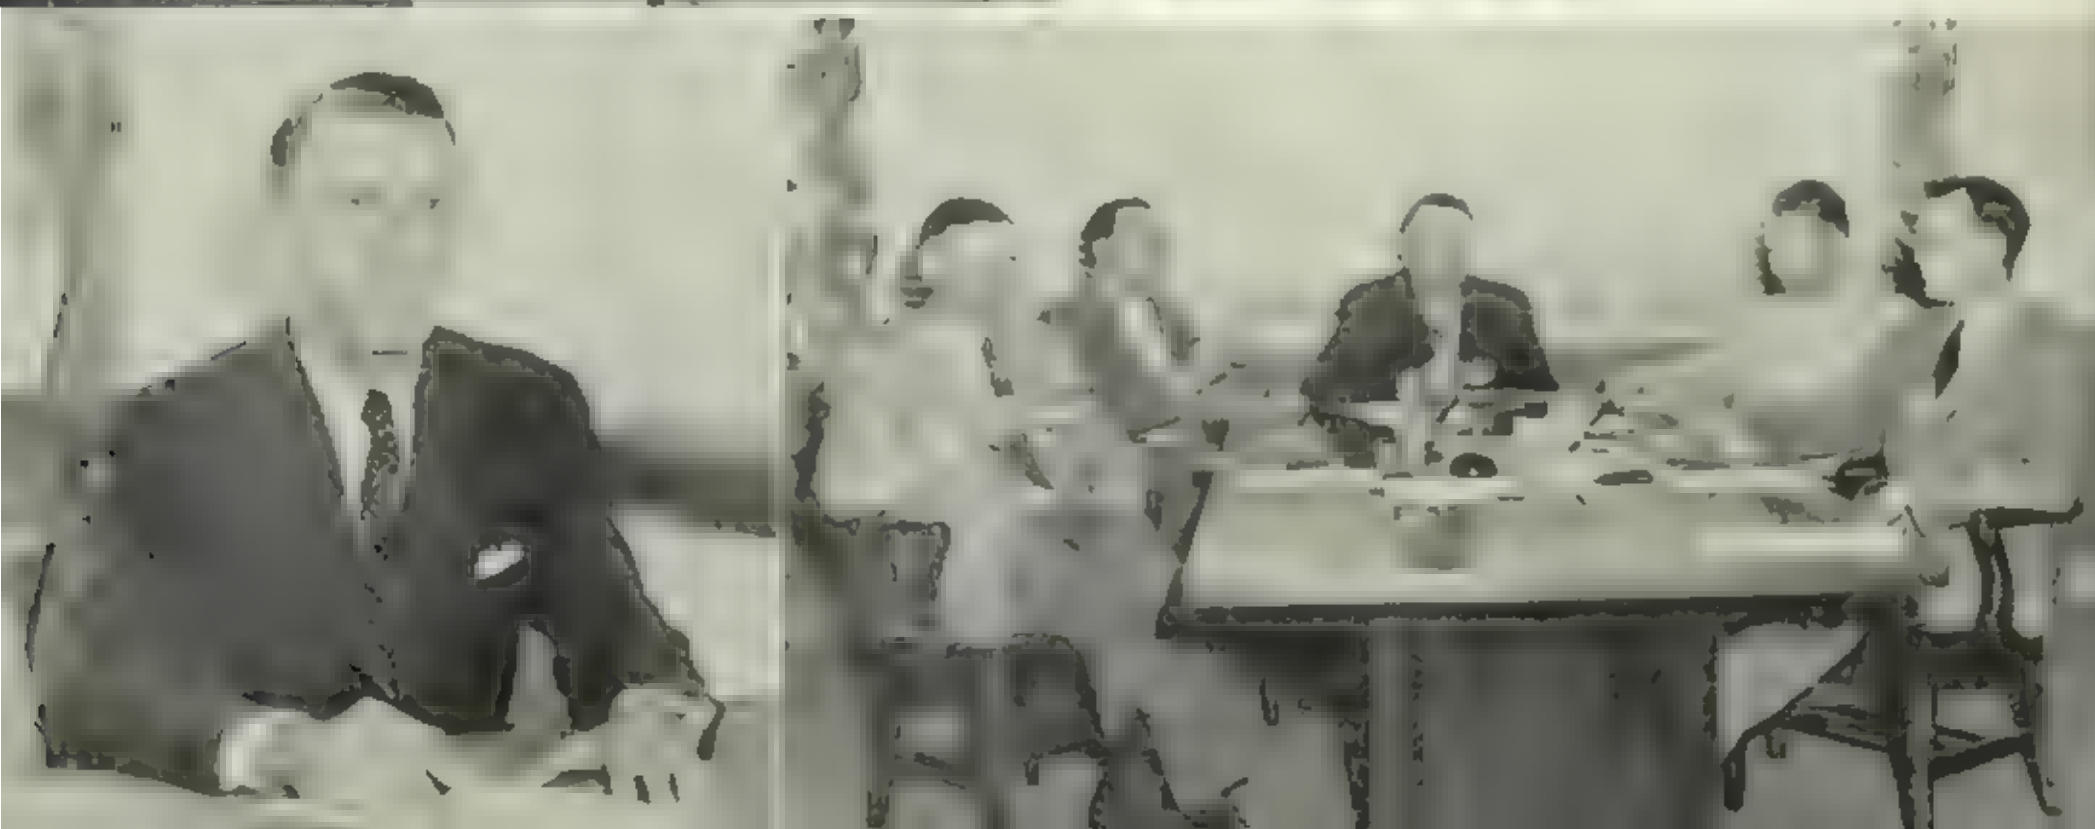

Riverside County Superintendent E. E. Smith and E. G. Garrison, Superintendent of the Hemet Schools.

Mr. Ebrite has been very busy with his concerns the welfare of the school district as a whole, but he took an interest in the high school too, and was frequently seen at games and other school affairs. Much of his time this year was absorbed by completion of the new auditoria and home economics building which will be in use next fall.

Among the many familiar faces who have left the district, one of the most familiar has left the district for E. E. Smith, Riverside county superintendent for many years, retired in January of this year.

Kenneth Newton, dean of boys, and Miss Alice Beard, dean of girls, plan their line of attack

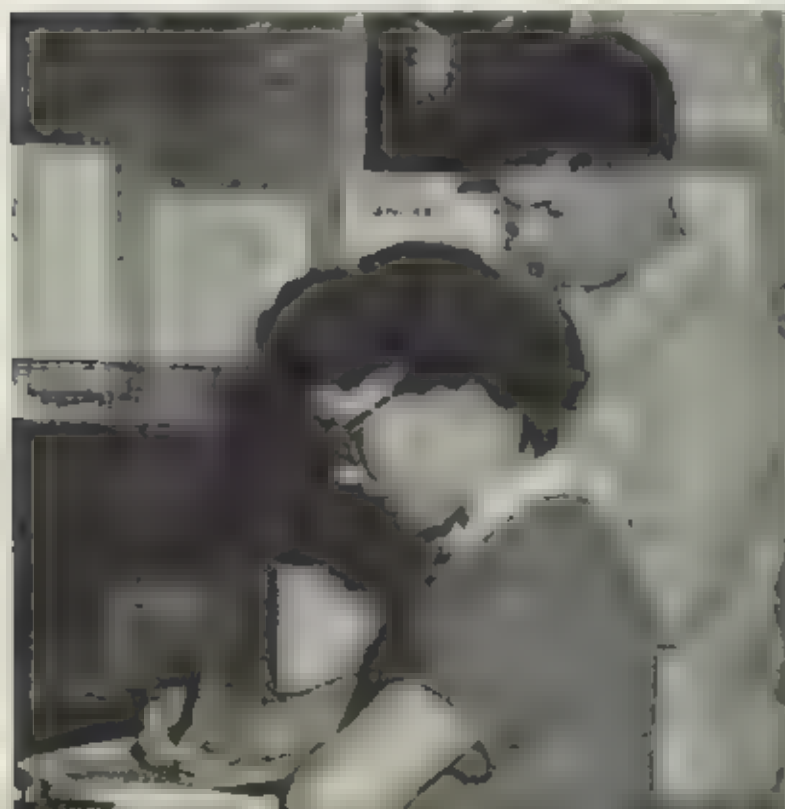

Indispensable to the functioning of the high school are the counselors or deans. They plan programs, advise students, check absence, and on occasion apply disciplinary measures. In spite of these last two items, most H.H.S. will admit that Hamet High would seem very incomplete without Mr. Newton and Miss Beard to keep things running smoothly.

Helping with the many clerical tasks necessary to the operation of a school are the secretaries and student assistants. This year Mrs. Huntoon and Miss Tate, high school secretaries, kept records, checked money, answered phone, ran down stray reels of film, and acted as shooters in various fields. Mrs. Scott and Miss Betty Gamel handled matters secretarial in the superintendent's office, until at Easter Miss Gamel traded her job for that of a homemaker.

Student helpers ran errands each period, picked up absence slips, and tracked down wandering pupils. The office practice class helped in supplying an assistant in the junior high each week and getting much of the necessary typing and mimeographing done.

Student Council

Former Student Council advisor, Chase Dane, has won much of the credit for council's past success.

with heart and love,
Chase Dane

This year the congratulations and top honors of the entire Hemet High School student body go to the student council members for their guidance and leadership during 1950 and 1951.

The many projects, no matter how difficult and important, that were brought before the council, were solved in such tactful ways that everyone was satisfied with their decisions.

They brought about numerous improvements in the school, such as painting the circle drive, opening a door into the darkroom from the hall, arranging for many improvements toward the care of the ground and the hardest of all, answering to the demands of the students.

Jim Bass campaigns for presidency at election assembly

Our student council is rated as one of the best in the state, and it is no easy job for the new councils every year to live up to the standards that were set by the ones of recent year.

It takes a lot of hard work, many long, tiring hours to be a member of a government such as ours and it takes the careful thought of all students in high school to elect the persons whom they feel are the best qualified for their leader. The exceptionally good job was done by both the council and students.

The Maintenance Crew

are the stage crew or behind-the-scene workers at Hemet High. It is they who sweep up the debris after each school day, who keep us in repair, furnish supplies and make our campus a pleasant spot to look at and this, considering the mess made during school hours, is no mean job!

LEFT Building Maintenance crew Chester Brist, Clarence Burroughs, Carl Jansen and Don Swarthout do a little work in the Maintenance shop. RIGHT The power mower seems to be giving Warren Holmes a rough time, but John Malet doesn't look worried.

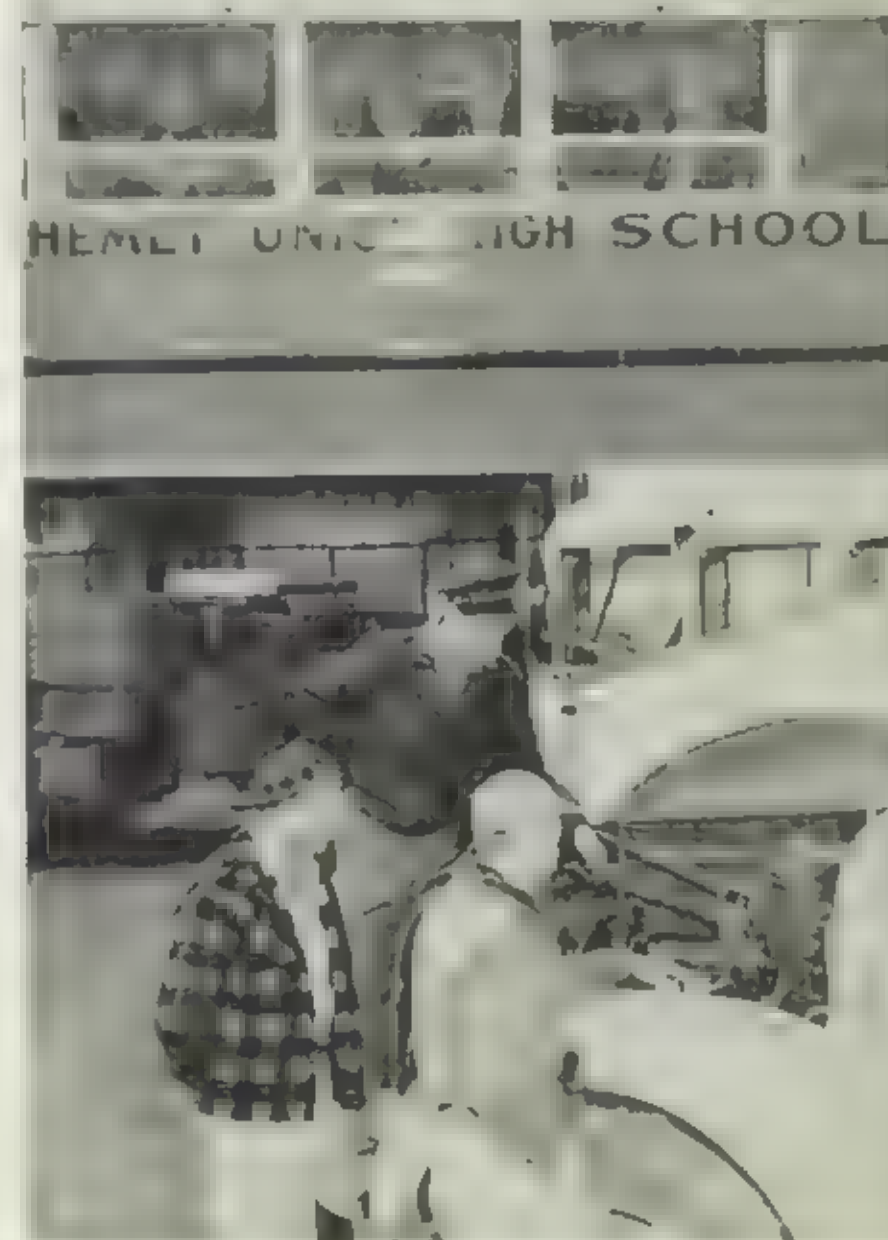

How would you like to fix lunch for 100 people every day? That's the problem that the cafeteria cooks face each morning when they arrive at school. And in addition to the 100 high school lunches to be prepared, about 40 meals must be prepared and taken to Little Lake School each day. The lunches are good too even though they are planned on a budget that doesn't have any stretch to it!

Bus drivers are long-suffering souls, as our students will readily admit. Ours make the daily trip from Aquanega, Idyllwild, and throughout the Hemet Valley in all kinds of weather—and with all kinds of passengers.

Faculty

Though it's sometimes hard to convince us the reason we go to school is to learn something, and to that end we have teachers and classes.

On the academic side, we struggled this year with senior problems in civics and senior problems in English provided plenty of reading and writing material. We also participated in the annual Kiwanis essay contest this year's topic was, Freedom is Not Free.

Arithmetic was a breeze without the intricacies of triangles, trapezoids and equation troubles.

Biology and chemistry offered scientific opportunities, while Spanish was provided for the linguists. Glee Club and band were the musical accompaniment to our heavier subjects and typing, shorthand and bookkeeping lent the practical touch.

Miss Alice Beard, B.A.; senior problems in civics.

Miss Elizabeth McKelvey, B.A., mathematics.

John McDonough, B.S., M.S. world history, sophomore social studies.

Kenneth Newton, B.S.; U. S. history, physical science, geography.

Charles Reed, B.A., chemistry, senior's education in algebra.

Robert Walter, E.A., M.A.; commercial subjects.

Mrs. Clark helps JoAnn Weddle with some leather work while the rest of the art class works industriously.

Even an important role in our everyday learning is the library which, thanks to Mr. Dane the librarian, has become a vital part of school life. But, aside from its books, what makes our library a showpiece and an inspiring place are those posters and exhibits loaned by the townspeople and arranged by Mr. Dane. And weekly these displays have featured everything from guns and shells to textiles and modern art.

And speaking of art, Hemet high's arts and crafts department supervised by Mrs. Jessie Clark, rates a special 'A' in the memory of students who have taken work in that department. Besides painting, drawing and poster making, ceramics, paper and jewelry work are always popular with HJHSers.

As for the past 30 years, H.U.H.S. has prepared boys for farm life and agriculture occupations. For the second year, Hemet was a teacher-training center for agriculture instructors with two cadets each semester.

Metal and wood shop apprentices to the industrial world worked with lathes, saws, drill press and milling machine to produce tools, chests, and tables, and to repair and build car motors.

And to keep in tune with the times, two new courses were required for seniors this year — first aid for both boys and girls, and home nursing for the girls.

"In Spring the Sap"

As the rulers of '51, the senior class, with its two presidents, Ken Smith and Alex Lee, and advisors Miss Baird and Mr. Newton, will go down in the history books of Hemet High.

To start off the school year of 1950-51, this class showed the student body that the fearless seniors were not afraid of black cats by giving a dance, "Superstition Shuffle" on Friday, October 13, and by making a grand success of the affair.

Soon after this, class members began preparing for the senior play by painting of, rehearsing, and costumes; rehearsing lines, and selling tickets; and on December 7 and 8, their efforts were rewarded as they stepped before the footlights to present "In Spring the Sap", the first school dramatic production of the year.

Seniors vs. Faculty

After the holidays, the seniors were ready to show their mark on the school. When they first arrived on the Senior Drive, all thought they would be able to erase the memory of the seniors and the seniors ruled supreme.

In February, however, the seniors' supremacy suffered a slight set-back when the senior boys lost to the faculty in a basketball game, — and lost, 37-32. How the Smoke-House Five with such names as "Half-pint crock" and "Pint and a Half," were defeated by a faculty team was a mystery. "The boys were off-night," say the boys!

End-of-the-year activities began to materialize on April 11, when the class took a day off to visit Riverside College. Then came Ditch Day, heralded by the traditional orange fight, and though some of the boys emerged looking like overripe tomatoes, instead of oranges, they were still able to enjoy Ditch Day, triumphing in the knowledge that they had defended the class of '51 with honor. Having spent a day of lounging on the beach, the seniors returned home sunburned and covered with sand.

The final big social event of the year was, of course, the traditional Junior-Senior banquet, long awaited and over in a flash, but with memories of corsages, soft strains of dance music, and lights turned low. Such a short time since they honored the seniors of yesterday, the class of '50, and now another spring has rolled around, and it's the Junior-Senior banquet for the class of '51!

As the final week drew close, seniors practiced getting used to their caps and gowns on Senior Cap Day, and prepared for Baccalaureate services. They gave a farewell assembly, where they read the class will and presented a program the rest of the classes could not forget. And on the final day, pins, prizes and trophies were received at the annual awards assembly.

Then came the big moment, graduation at the Ramona Bowl — the restless line of seniors, the slow procession to "Pomp and Circumstance", the handing out of diplomas — and as they walked down the aisle that final time, another class, the class of '51, recalled three happy years crowded with work and fun at Hemet High.

It took hard work and a lot of time to make the part of every junior class in the year to make a difference to give the seniors one of the most successful and interesting held at Hemet High in recent years.

The juniors were a team, and working together to sacrifice watch over the school and to make the concessions to hundred of people.

Then in October the juniors had to climb the mountain and the juniors were exhausted after the climb and the juniors were with the results.

On April 13 and 14 the juniors had a 'Daffy' Th... sets and flat... parts of the p...

The sophomores entered Hemet High this year and as usual they were regarded as the newcomers. But the class of '53 soon gained everyone's appreciation by kicking off and starting the year's round of activities with the traditional painting of the "H".

They scurried around for weeks preparing to give everyone a little relaxation from semester exams, and they reaped their efforts on January 26 when the "Final Fling" was a huge success.

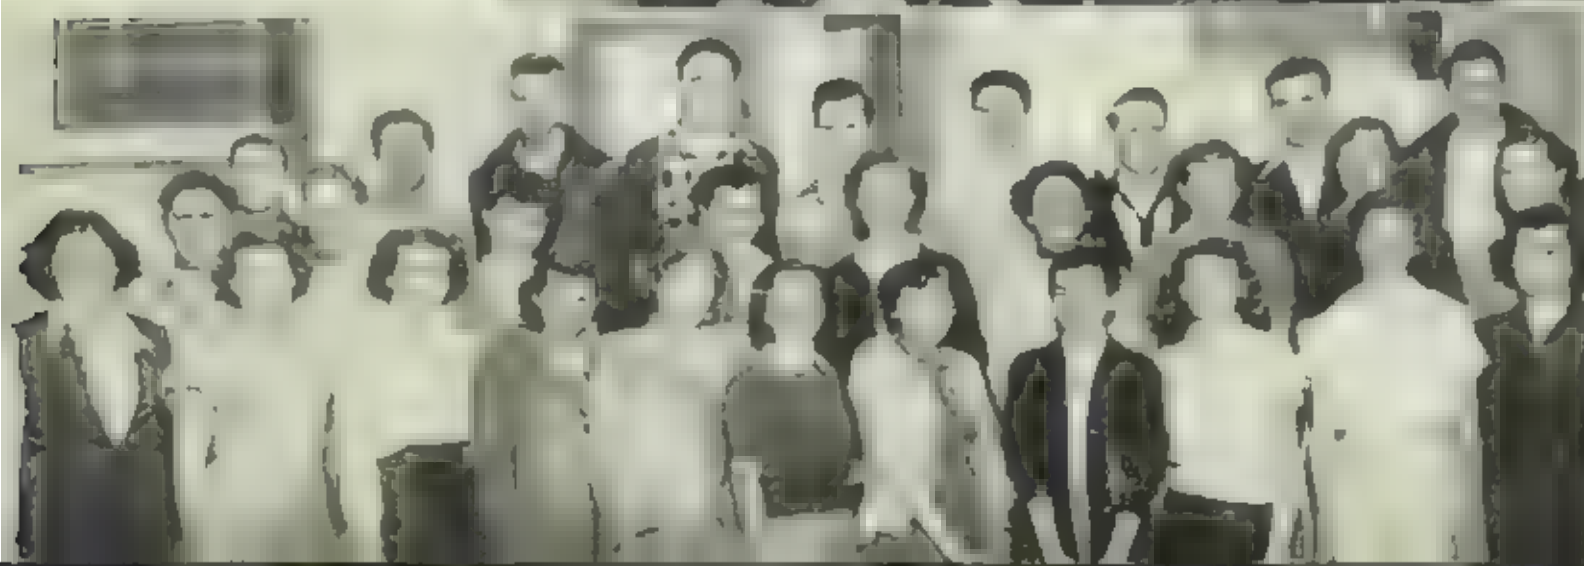

In February the class rings arrived, much to their delight, and there has never been a prouder class pass through the halls of Hemet High than that of '53.

After the success of the Final Fling the sophs collaborated with the Student's Club to give a dance to close the Rube Day festivities. The date was April 20, the dance backwards (much to the delight of the girls), and the affair indeed provided a happy ending to the day.

Thus the activities of the Sophomores came to a close, but they left their mark on Hemet High and will be back next year to carry on.

Fresh sensation Carroll Doolittle (37) rips off 25-yard touchdown gallop against Banning the first time he totes the ball. Bulldogs won the game 35-0.

Bullet Bob Glover picks up 20 yards for Hemet as the locals wind up the R.C.L. season against Banning.

Half of Hemet turned out for the first grid bonfire rally since pre-war days. Results came in the form of a 7-6 Hemet victory over traditional rival San Jacinto the following evening.

The Hemet Bulldogs once again displayed their much feared grid dominance which has earmarked them as always being one of the top powers of the R.C.L.

With all-league dynamos Roger Johnson, Hugh Towle and Dwight Webb all but ripping holes in the gridiron, the Bulldogs possessed one of the most rugged prep elevens ever to trod the turf for the gold and white.

The locals tore open the 1950 campaign with a near upset. Tucson nearly threw, bowing only 13-7 to the routed Orange League champions. Dwight Webb uncorked a 44 yard bullseye to Russ Mathews in the open with five minutes remaining to highlight the game. As usual, Hugh Towle was never far away. Next on the menu came victory when the Bulldogs won over 14-0. Bullet Bob Fowler and Dwight Webb were the ball defensive stand out in the afternoon, but were forced to share the spotlight with sophomore center Bob King, who raced 70 yards for a touchdown after hauling down a stray Varsity pass.

King Football Reigns

October 6 found the Bulldogs at Beaumont where they demolished the Cougars 14-0 in the R. C. L. opener. Superb play by the art of Alex Hamlin made the difference, an early pass being with one top drive veering from inemen Hugh Towle and Alex Hamlin. A week later the Bulldogs traveled to the Perris Panthers home with their tails between their legs after being handed a severe 21-0 defeat. The Bulldogs' attack was des their sterling running attack but around Gover, Webb, Alex Hamlin and Russ Mathews. The Bulldogs' defense with some magnificent aerial artistry which found glue-fingered Dwight Webb and Hugh Towle in the receiving end time after time.

Then came the heartbreaker. After being tabbed to win 18-6, Coach Roy Cooper's contingent took their lumps and a helping of the Palm Springs Indians, 7-0 who later slipped by the Bulidog bitten Perris eleven by only a 7-6 score. Hemet's attack was in the late stages of the hotly contested battle when Webb drove over the Indian goal line but was forced to fumble the ball on a fumble. Never was the Bulldogs' defense able to recover the fumble. The game was a close one, with the Bulldogs' defense being unable to stop the Indians' attack. First string football—left to right, Backs: Bob Wyatt, Claude Pates, Dwight Webb, and Bob Gover, Line: Gene Kerby, Roger Johnson, Hugh Towle, Dick Howard, John Plantenga, Dick Gibbel and Leo Hume.

ALEX HAMILTON fleet, hard driving fullback, could always be depended on when those few extra feet were needed to give the Bulldogs an important first down. Despite an untimely mid-season leg injury, Alex will return next year for his third and final fling on R.C.L. gridiron.

DWIGHT WEBB swivel-hipped senior tailback, not only was a top rate signal caller for the locals this year but ran and passed his way into an all-league backfield position as well.

RUSSELL MATHEWS, one of the league's top aerial artists, will be sorely missed on the 1951 Bulldog roster. His talented flipper won him honorable mention on this year's all-R.C.L. selections.

CLAUDE PASOS fearless, defensive-minded quarterback was a big season for Hamet's fine defensive mark during the 1950 campaign.

HEAD COACH ROY COOPER, never-say-die Bulldog mentor, and a shining example of true sportsmanship and athletic know-how, once again has earned the undying gratitude of local pigskin enthusiasts by presenting the with a winning team for his fourth successive year with the Bulldogs.

JERRY MARSTON stout-structured run blocker, should be the shining light in next year's forward wall and will also be a top candidate for all-league recognition at the season's end.

HEAD MANAGER TED EGGEN

GENE KERBY, glue-fingered veteran end, pulled down anything near him, regardless of circumstances, last fall while winning his second varsity letter.

JOHNSON, tank-like all-league tackle was the lone repeater from last year's all-R.C.L. eleven and shared Most Valuable Player honors along with terror-twin Hugh Towle.

HUGH TOWLE, vicious, all-R.C.L. line man and the loop-top conversion artist captained the near-championship 1950 eleven and was elected as Co-Most Valuable Player along with Tackle Roger Johnson.

DICK HOWARD alert, Bulldog lineman possessed the invaluable ability to "smell" a play coming and was considered the most underrated player on last fall's squad. Howard won Honorable Mention on the all-R.C.L. and 1st.

DICK BROWN, rugged senior quarterback proved himself one of the team's top defensive backs and a great team morale builder because of his never-say-die spirit

CARROLL DOOLITTLE, flashy freshman halfback left very little doubt that he is destined to become one of Hemet's all-time gridiron greats. Even last fall as a first-year man Doolittle was considered a scoring threat every time he packed the portholes

BILL WYATT, a gutsy Bulldog junior, alternating both at halfback and quarterback, shot across for the lone Hemet score against rival San Jacinto last fall to dare the much feared Tiger Express of 20 straight wins

BOB GLOVER. This space was originally saved for a picture of junior footballer Bob Glover, who pulled up stakes for San Diego before our Tahquitz grid snaps could be taken. In his first year with the Bulldogs Glover was the team's top scorer and all R.C.L. second team fullback

BOB MORRIS MANAGER

ALEX LEE fearless senior guard came up from a great season with the local Jayvees eleven to help Coach Cooper's varsity squad to no end in the last campaign

BOB KING bonecrushing sophomore center was shifted to end toward the end of the past campaign where he filled in for the injured Gene Kerby on Coach Cooper's starting eleven

JOHNNY PLANTENGA, scrappy junior guard should prove his worth come next campaign after enjoying a tremendous year with the Bulldogs

ASSISTANT COACH AL FAGES a fine coach and a graduate from the University of Redlands. He is locally known as one of the best in the business. His savvy driving, yet well received method of getting things done brought him to H.S. the best line in the valley for the 1950 season

DICK GIBBEL, burly Bulldog tackle, proved a hard man to move around last fall with the Bulldogs and garnered all-R.C.L. Honorable Mention for his efforts

LEO HOLMES, a glib, all-league second team end is considered one of the better all-around flankmen ever to glorify H.U.H.S. in the R.C.L. He will be a great loss to the Bulldogs in 1951 both offensively and defensively

BILL MURRAY, speedy junior end, shows potential ty of becoming a top notch end with the Bulldogs next to after picking up a year of invaluable varsity experience in 1950.

JERRY FLEMING, beefy Bulldog tackle, would prove unstoppable next year when earning his second varsity monogram.

Leonard Yates plays the pun which won him an R.C.L. second team and position as he gracefully puts down the pigskin to score against the Elmore Tigers. An offside penalty, however, nullified the score.

LEONARD YATES, lanky 6'3" wingman will be a vital factor determining the success of next year's well stacked footballers. Experience, plus the fact that he is still growing, will make him one of the better ends in the circuit in 1951.

JOHN BOHMFALK, rugged, Bulldog tackle will be a vital factor in 1951 both on the 1951 team and will also be one of the top kickoff artists in the R.C.L.

Next to the forward was the Bulldog tackle, Bill Murray, who was the only Bulldog to score in the game to the Bulldogs.

Next to the tackle was the Bulldog tackle, Bill Murray, who was the only Bulldog to score in the game to the Bulldogs. The latter failed Hemet's final teedee and set up another early in the second quarter when he returned a Tiger kickoff 87 yards.

The Bulldogs won the game 35-0, with the only R.C.L. school to defeat the Palm Springs champions. The result was a 7-1 victory over the Bulldogs, who were the only team to defeat the Bulldogs, with only 57 seconds remaining and Towle converted to give the locals a win over the only R.C.L. school to defeat the Palm Springs champions.

With backfield stars Webb and Glover in the saddle, the Bulldogs gave Banning's Broncs up one side of the field and down the other in the R.C.L. finale, which was won by the Bulldogs, 35-0. Always a team to give pigskin fans their money's worth, Towle and Johnson were named to the back and tailback positions respectively in the late stages of the game, and the results were killing, especially from a Banning point of view.

After their highly successful season, the Bulldogs named Towle and Johnson for Most Valuable Players while Towle alone was named Captain.

Varsity Basketball

Students of H.U.H.S. can truly be proud of their fine 1951 R.C.L. varsity champions, who are the first Hemet quintet to wear the championship crown since 1947.

While rolling up a season mark of sixteen wins and five losses, the Bulldogs not only emerged victorious in their quest for the county championship but swept the annual varsity cage tourney at Palm Springs as well.

Possessing an unusually well balanced scoring punch in Dave Wiltshire, Hugh Towle, Bob Raymond, Leo Holmes and Derrel Henninger, the locals were unconquerable when more than two were huddled as was proved.

late in the season against Elgin. A win would have put the Bulldogs in a position to play for the state championship.

With a strong center, Gaudreault, at the helm, the Bulldogs were a team that was expected to make a run at the championship. They did not. The reason for that is that they lacked a consistent scoring ability. They were a team that had a lot of work and scoring ability.

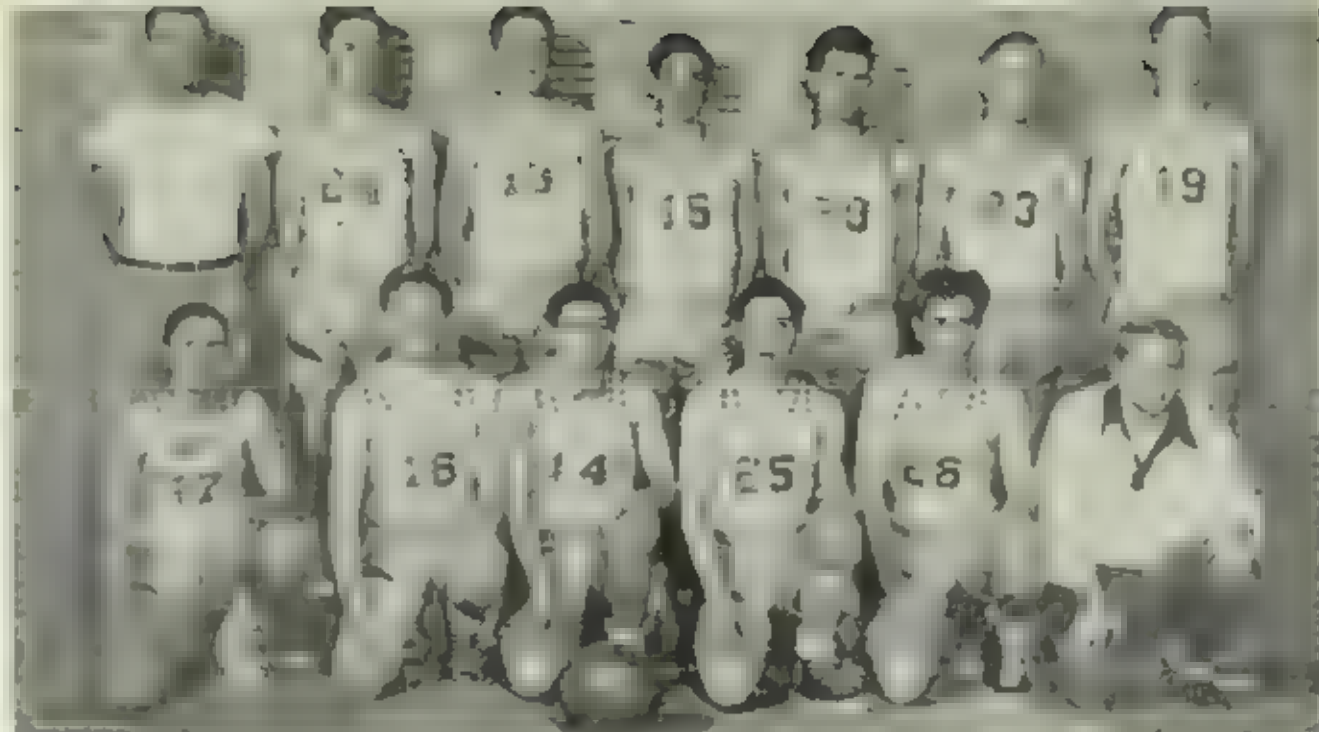

The Bulldogs of '51' will long be remembered in county cage circles as a team to be admired.

Track

After the annual R.C.L. meet at the Hemet High School track, the Bulldogs came home with fourth place in the annual R.C.L. meet at the Perris oval April 28.

Hugh Towle won the 100 yard dash by capturing the victory in 17.2 seconds, a record of 46.7 and a 100 yard dash record of 17.2 seconds.

After gaining a 100 yard dash victory, the Bulldogs captured the 100 yard dash title. The record will be remembered as one of the all-time greats in H.H.S. history.

Rubber-legged Bill Murray led all local competition in the class Bee division, with a blue ribbon performance in the high jump at 5'6", and an additional fourth place in the 70 yard high hurdle event. Murray, a Hemet High record holder at 5'8" in the Bee highjump, later equalled this school's all time standard with a 9.8 clocking in an interclass meet held May 8.

Lee Pascoe proved to be the only other R.C.L. winner for the local school, capturing the 100 yard dash in the Cus Co. competition at night April 29. He also captured the 100 yard dash title in the 1951 season. The Bulldogs' high jump finals to lead his teammates into a third place tie.

Swimming and Tennis

Despite the ever-winning doubles combination of veteran net artists Bob Record and Keith Monaghan, the 1951 Bud and Al upset was one of the most surprising in the grand slam and fourth in the men's department.

Under the guidance of Miss Ann Bittner, the local ladies smashed out their lone victory of the campaign over a weak Perry-Patterson organization. With two league meetings, however, and even less success. The girls were not so fortunate, coming out on the short end of three league meets.

The Honoraries

Chartered in 1948 was Hemet's chapter of Quill and Scroll, national journalism honorary society. The local unit is named in honor of Homer D. King, editor of the Hemet News. This year's members held an initiation dinner at the Cedars cafe in February, at which Emily Gates, Jim Bass and Jim Pitcher received their pins.

Membership in Quill and Scroll is won by students who do outstanding work in journalism, advertising or photography.

Sponsored by Miss Elizabeth McKevey, this year's California Scholarship Federation boasts of 16 members, one of the largest honor groups of the past few years. These "brains" followed the motto, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" by attending Chaffey College's musical production "Paradise Isle" on March 14 and by attending the state C.S.F. convention in Los Angeles on April 14.

The major activity of the Thespians Club this year was planning and a trip to the Payhouse Playhouse, where local troupe members presented Thornton Wilder's "The Happy Journey" in the annual tournament put on by the Payhouse Association.

An impressive initiation dinner at Grandolfo's was held in May, at which time a candle-light ceremony was used with the lighting of each candle symbolizing the progressive steps of dramatic art in the world.

President of Thespians for the year was Beverly McCoy, with Mr. Schepman as advisor. John McDonough, social studies teacher, acted as director of "Happy Journey."

Spanish Club

Los Picaros", the Spanish Club, was as popular this year as always. These gay senoritas and senors led the way with their annual Taco Tango where students felt they were indeed south of the border as they munched delicious tacos and saw the gay decorations. On December 13, the club traveled to Padua Hills where members saw the famous "Los Posados," the Mexican nativity play. This year's president of the Spanish Club was Gregg Figgins with Mrs. Gifford serving as advisor.

G.A.A. Sportsters

The athletic Amazons of Hemet High started the year right by having the largest number of members ever in the Athletic Association history. They proved to be a most successful and active group, and they did it early and often. Anywhere be it at the gym, on the field, or in the community, their energy and vitality were spent, and at the end of the year, sport, so as to end the season in a neat little bundle.

Turning the auditorium into a winter wonderland and by planting a snowman and trillions of lacy snowflakes was no easy task for the mighty gals. But the dance, "Frozen Fantasy", was generally agreed to be one of the high spots of the year.

Credit for the G.A.A.'s triumphant year goes to the energetic president, Bev McCoy. Other officers were Vice President Jane Baird, Treasurer Mary Lou Yoakum. Managers for the five sports seasons were Frances Brown; Nada Bounds, hockey manager; Nita Purser, baseball manager; Joedy Fenrich, basketball manager; and Mary Ann Larson, tennis manager.

Organized in 1946, the Key Club has ever since been an important H.U.H.S. group. The boys who earn the honor of joining this club must be all-around boys and must maintain a C average. This year the first activity of the club was to re-do the scoreboard at the fairgrounds, after which they gave a home-coming dance, which featured the crowning of a foot bail queen, Jane Baird.

Then came December, with the fifth annual Christmas Ball, which is always one of the main events of the year. As usual, it featured soft music, low lights, rust'ing formals and dancing couples.

Twenty-seven boys attended the district convent on at Hollywood in March, and Hemet's group had the distinction of having the largest representation.

Besides operating all the gum machines in Hemet, the Key Club again gave the Sandy Ninn'ger awards at the end of the school year. Members also served on graduation night by parking cars at the Ramona Bowl.

It is a familiar sight every Thursday at 11:40 to see about 30 boys strolling through the halls with trays on their way to their weekly luncheon meeting. Dwight Webb and Dick G. b bel were the two able presidents this year, with Mr. Killen serving as advisor.

The Lettermen's Club is composed of Hemet's H-Men those who have earned a letter in football, basketball baseball or track. This year the club sponsored the baseball throw at the Junior Carnival, where members could show their skill at knocking over milk bottles.

This club also put on the first Senior-Faculty basketball game. To give the faculty a break the seniors team was chosen from those boys who did not play basketball on either A or B team. But the faculty emerged the victors, by a 37-34 score, so next year's senior class may play an all-star team made up of the top hoop men of the class!

Also a project of the Lettermen's Club was the annual B.C. basketball tournament, which is held annually at Hemet and is sponsored by the Lions Club. But the climax of the year was the sponsoring of the annual Rube Day by the club, with a backward dance taking place in the evening.

As first and second semester prexies Roy Cooper and Leo Holmes kept the club moving. Sponsors for the year were Coach Cooper, Hemet High athletic director.

Future Homemakers

Starting a new precedent this year by electing officers each semester, the F.H.A. girls showed good taste in their choices. For the first semester the Future Homemakers were under the leadership of Advisor Miss Edna Fletcher and President Mattie Yoakum. Those persons composing the remainder of this council were Grace Sims, vice president; Jean Johnson, secretary; Wanda Bunch, treasurer; Thelma Hefley, publicity chairman; and Pat Knight, music chairman.

Guided by Jo Ann Weddle, the second president of the year, with Jean Beaver as vice president, Gladys Telford as secretary, Marie Torte as publicity chairman, Shirley Story as program chairman, and Betty Schofield as music chairman, the chapter completed its program of work for the year. The F.H.A. always an active club in school, again won the sweepstakes in its division at the Hemet Farmers' Fair and Festival in October. The theme of the prize-winning feature exhibit was "The Right and Wrong Way to Decorate a Girl's Bedroom."

Every year at Christmas the Future Homemakers strive to make some needy family's home more pleasant by donating clothes, toys and a decorated tree. This was still not enough of the Christmas spirit for the girls, who also brightened the Yuletide season for the Sherman Indians by sending presents to them.

To end the year with a gay note, the annual wiener bake was held at the riverbed with plenty of food and fun for all.

The Hemet Future Farmers have prospered during the past year. The new agriculture building has been instrumental in putting the boys on. Many of the year have been many in winning the F.F.A. public speaking contest and their topping off the year's activities by winning the sweepstakes at the Riverside County fair.

Citrus and livestock judging contests, Camp Condee, project competition, athletic sports, cooperative marketing contests and the father and son contest all contributed to the year's successes.

Officers for the year were Shax Pitcher, president, Leonard Yates, vice president, Charles Alvarez, Secretary, Monte Filbin, treasurer, Ed Mang, reporter, and Fred Hagen, advisor. Capably assisting the advisor this year have been the student leaders, Ray Isola, Harold Peck, Richard Calhoun and Richard Yon.

No time for this, we'll be at the Junior Carnival" was the theme of the F.F.A. entry in the Halloween parade this year. Tipping the privy are Donald Morton, Charles Alvarez and Marshall Polson. The hairy legs inside belong to none other than Joe Arnez.

Leading the H.L.H.S. band this year was Dick Hart, with Elsie Bennett, Barbara Webb, Doris Reno and Sandra Osburn working hard on their routines and contributing much to the success of the band. A new feature this year was the drum team, whose members, in their snappy yellow uniforms, added color and glamor.

Yell leaders were also active and kept the stands cheering on to victory during football and basketball seasons. The football yell leaders were Jean Johnson, Jo Ann Gudmundson, Nada Bounds, Bonnie Beavers and Jim Wash, kept the team and spectators in the air.

Music

Whenever the band played "Hemet Bulldogs", out came our songleaders Janet Kilmer, Maxine Jeffries and Joedy Fenrich. These gals were always on the ball and made everyone want to sing as they capered up and down the sidelines.

With the band, these four combinations added color and life to the football and basketball seasons and played important parts as morale builders.

The Hemet High band under the direction of Curtis Miller, did not limit its activities to football season, but went on right through the year.

The big event of the semester was the massed band festival held in Hemet on March 30. The very next day, March 31, the band traveled to Redlands to part in the southern California band and orchestra contest where a "B" rating was earned. This rating entitled the group to take part in the state contest at Fullerton on April 4.

In return for their various services to the community, band members were entertained by the Lions Club on April 4 at a regular dinner meeting of that club.

Hath Charms

The high point of this year's queen club members came on May 10 and 11, when they presented the play, "H.R.H. Miss Jones," a comedy farce in which everyone was almost the last minute who the real princess is. Joining together for this presentation boys and girls' choruses, directed by Curtis Miller and Mrs. Doris Peterson, gave a performance of real merit.

Previously the groups had the Christmas cantata, "Christmas", and appeared before the local community organization.

Publications

Mr. Kenneth Newton, Photography Advisor; Mrs. Frances Hagen, Publications Advisor.

A high school annual is looked upon as the printed record of the year's classes, activities and events. And any annual staff will vouch for the fact that it is a year's job to put out an annual! Financing the book, planning it, gathering the material and assembling it into a dummy from which the printer can make the finished product are tasks which require far more time and effort than anyone dreams of at the start—and they know!

There were times when this year's Tahquitz staff wondered if a book would ever emerge from the sometimes hectic atmosphere of Room 16—bedraggled sheets of dummy paper, folders of identifications, and envelopes full of photograph negatives in the darkroom. And after that came hours of writing and typing copy, and then more hours of proof reading, not to mention the soliciting of ads, selling of annuals, and everlasting checking of subscription lists.

Well, it's over now, and we hope you enjoy your Tahquitz of 1951!

Tanquitz Peaks, Hemet High's school paper, graduated this year from a mimeographed paper to an offset, or multithread type of printing. This enabled the staff to provide pictures as well as written material and brought on a rash of phone calls from nearby schools who wondered how it was done. Joint issues were put out during the first semester and five during the second, with special news and all-county teams at the football and basketball seasons.

As with any new paper, the management was rather new. The staff tried to solve this problem by trying to write in a feature type of style and by keeping the date of issue fluid, so as to put out an issue shortly before or after some big school event.

Leonard Schlef B.A. University of Wyoming; counselor, seventh and ninth grade social studies.

This year student body advised by Mr. Schiel spent a very successful year due to the excellent officers and the outstanding leadership of President Dorothy Jingo.

Dorothy and the council were commended for the excellent work by both senior high students and faculty members. After his years on staff he is one of the most thoughtful group the school has ever had. His patrol members were also in the class of senior high and was reminded students that the boys were for working and running.

The class of 54, reviewed during the past semester a course designed to prepare them for senior high. This year was the first that this course was given. Two homeroom meetings a day by the entire group. Two homeroom meetings a day and socially for most of the problems which might arise next year and after in the future.

Ninth grade made up their own plans and most of them were good. They reviewed their plans and displayed them proudly on their very own sweater.

A farewell party was given for the teachers and the students. They were given them by the class and the teachers. The departure from the homeroom is a sad time.

Junior High Sports

The highlight of the 1955 junior high basketball season was the undefeated record of the Bee's. The Bee's went through six regular games undefeated and easily won the home state championship. The A's also won the state championship as they were beaten only once. Other teams in the league were Hemet, Elsinore, Val Verde, Perris and Banning. For the games were:

DEE BASKETBALL

This year's midget edition of the H.U.H.S. basketball team had an outstanding record which nearly equaled that of their big brothers in the "A" and "B" division.

They swept the western division of the R.C.L. which is composed of teams from Perris, San Jacinto, Elsinore and Hemet. In a post-season playoff at Banning High for the R.C.L. Championship, the Baby Bulldogs lost merely by one point to a sharp Coach's quintet 36-35.

The team was an all-freshman quintet which makes Hemet's hopes for future major division championships appear very bright. The locals were led by Kenny Kinkade, who wound up the season with 13 points average. Also adding to the team's success were Jerry Fricker, Larry Page, Jimmy Venable, Tommy Leavelle and Tommy Brum.

CEE BASKETBALL

The 1950-51 Cee basketball team didn't have a winning season. The brothers, winding up with a 2-3 win-loss record.

They wound up in third place in the western division. The losses this year came at the hands of the top teams, East and San Jacinto. The team didn't get into the N.C.L. playoffs at the end of the season.

Even though they didn't do too well in league play, the squad had its share of individual stars. Leading scorer was Jim Fricker winding up the season with 100 points. Other contributing fine floor play and a few key passes were from Morreo, Leo Pasos, L. C. McKinley, and Max Goodwin.

Homeroom teams competed at noon. Shown here is a basketball game in progress.
